- It is the objective of our quality policy to provide our customers and end users with immaculate and serviceable products.
- The customer is in the centre of our interest. Therefore, the customer is entitled to quality, adherence to deadlines and customer service.
- Meeting our quality standards is the responsibility of each and every employee. Therefore quality awareness is promoted in all departments. It is a permanent management task.
- The organization takes responsibility to assure quality through close cooperation between sales, development, production and testing.
- Quality has to be planned. The process starts right at the sales meeting, and continues to customer consultation and development.
- Quality has to be produced. Therefore, high emphasis is put on raw materials, machine and equipment maintenance and staff development.
- Every employee is responsible for quality improvements. Cost cutting must not impact on quality but has to be achieved by alternative means.
- We put high emphasis on good information and staff development.
